

The Granite Bay House Doctor does House Calls!

The Granite Bay House Doctor is the go to guy when it comes to home remodels and additions.

For the past six years, Brent Brandolino, owner and contractor of Granite Bay House Doctor has been making house calls his top priority.

Brandolino prides his business success on knowledge of the industry, and also his great customer service skills.

"I am in too small of an area to not care for my customers, and I am isolated here in Granite Bay, and I have to be on the ball, and make things happen for them," Brandolino said.

Brandolino works closely with clients from start to finish on projects including design aspects. "Walking into a kitchen, I can visualize the end project, which will help my customers through the design process," Brandolino said. He describes himself as both technical and artistic, both good qualities when trying to find a contractor.

Brent says that remodeling projects don't have to be daunting. They can be done in a matter of days with some reasonably minor upgrades like new faucets and sinks, new appliance change outs, and even lighting kit replacements. Revitalizing kitchens doesn't have to be long and lengthy with large amounts of mess.

On a recent Granite Bay bathroom and bedroom remodel, Brandolino and his construction team robbed space from an existing nonfunctional bathroom where it was restructured for more usable space. The custom upgrades included retexturing of walls, adding of skylights, and a privacy door was added to the bathroom, which was not existent before. The redesign of the bathroom gave the customers a custom double sink vanity over the existing standard single sink. The best part of the remodel by using the space that was reconfigured, the customers were able to add a soaking tub to their new luxury bathroom.

Brandolino suggests that another way of creating more space is to replace an existing water heater with a tankless water heater, which could create an extra four feet in a remodel.
